ECONOMIC CONFERENCE FOR DEVELOPMENT THROUGH REFORMS WITH THE PRIVATE SECTOR

PARIS ON APRIL 6TH CALLED CEDRE

Paris, Wasington DC, 10.04.2018, 00:47 Time

About 50 states and international organizations were mobilizing to help the country finance its multi-year development plan. An "emergency", according to Emmanuel Macron, the French president, to preserve the stability of a country whose infrastructure is weakened by regional crises and in particular the influx of refugees from neighboring Syria.

TRANSCRIPT OF THE INTERGITY OF « CEDRE » JOINT STATEMENT-----

- 4- Despite favorable recent developments, Lebanon continues to face vulnerabilities and mounting challenges. The conflict in Syria and the resulting displacement of population and mass influx of refugees and displaced into Lebanon have affected the Lebanese economy, its infrastructure and social services. Unemployment, which was already high particularly among the youth, has sharply increased. More than 200.000 Lebanese have been pushed into poverty. These are important challenges for Lebanon, which, by hosting displaced populations, provides a global public good on behalf of the international community. To this end participants look forward to the holding in Brussels of the "Supporting the future of Syria and the region" conference, on April 24-25 at the invitation of the European Union and the United Nations.
- 5- Fundamentally the economic recovery and long term development of Lebanon are hindered by structural problems: high fiscal deficit (around 10 % of GDP) and high level of public debt (around 150 % of GDP), resulting in a major drop in capital expenditures to less than 1 percent of GDP per year. The GDP growth rate remains low.
- 6-Prime Minister Hariri presented the Lebanese government's "Vision for stabilization, growth and employment", which was welcomed by all participants. This vision is based on four pillars: (1) increasing the level of public and private investment; (2) ensuring economic and financial stability through fiscal adjustment; (3) undertaking essential sectoral reforms and cross-sectoral reforms, including fighting corruption, modernization of the public sector and public finance management; (4) developing a strategy for the reinforcement and diversification of Lebanon's productive sectors and the realization of its export potential.-----

7- The government of Lebanon presented its ambitious Capital Investment Program (CIP), which is mainly focused on infrastructure development and rehabilitation. The total cost of the first phase of the CIP (covering 6 years for preparatory works and implementation) is estimated at US $10.8 billion (including expropriation costs), of which around 35 % could come from private investment. Taking into account the scope and ambition of this Program, and the overall positive assessment by the World Bank Group, participants decided to contribute to the 1st phase of the Program, while, in parallel, supporting the Government's implementation of reforms and institutional strengthening, which are critical to the Program's successful delivery and Lebanon's macroeconomic stability. They emphasized some sectoral priorities of Lebanon's government: energy, water, and waste management, which are essential for the population's needs. They also noted the importance of private sector investment in the transport sector. Public transport remain a major investment target for the government. Participants commended the adoption of the Public Private Partnership law, which lays the basis for private participation in public sector projects. Moreover participants emphasized the need to increase investment and expenditure in social sectors, including health and education. Participants also encouraged the government and the World Bank Group to keep working on the CIP, including on the prioritization and the phasing of projects, and to ensure that necessary sectoral reforms are implemented on time. Appreciation was expressed for the important work done by the international organizations in Lebanon.

- 8- Recognizing that sound fiscal management is central to improving the confidence of international investors, both private and public, the Lebanese Government, supported by the donor community, commits to a challenging fiscal consolidation target of five percentage points of GDP over the next five years, through a combination of revenue measures (including improved collection of taxes) and expenditure measures, such as a reduction of transfers to Electricité du Liban (EdL), allowing a primary surplus. These are crucial steps to support macroeconomic stability, to gradually reduce public debt, and to generate the best outcomes of the CIP, including a sustainable stimulation of growth.
- 9-Participants commended the measures adopted before the Conference to build confidence with the international community, donors and the private sector. This includes speeding up the implementation of projects already committed, signing and ratifying loans, and allocation as well as disbursement of local counterpart funds. This should also include the allocation of human and financial resources to the High Council for Privatization and Partnership.
- 11- In this enabling context, participants considered that, given Lebanon's high debt levels, concessional financing and private investment are the best instruments to invest in infrastructure and create jobs, along with the implementation of a consistent budgetary and fiscal adjustment program. They pledged their support to Lebanon's investment and reforms program for Phase I:
- US$ 10.2 billion loans have been pledged, including 9.9 billion in concessional terms
- US$ 0,86 billion grants (including grants to subsidize loans)

They encouraged the private sector to participate to the financing of the CIP, on a project basis.

12- Participants attach the utmost importance to a robust follow-up mechanism for this conference, to ensure that commitments, reforms and pledges will be implemented.-----

The Lebanese government, with the support of donors and investors, intends to streamline their procedures for clearance, approval and implementation of externally funded projects. Streamlining the procedures will make the implementation of the CIP more successful and will help build trust with key stakeholders. In this regard, participants welcomed the Lebanese government's commitment to strengthen implementation capacity, with international support, ensuring it meets international standards on transparency, accountability, anti-money laundering and combating the financing of terrorism.

A coordination mechanism between donors and authorities, informed by a continuous dialogue with the private sector and the civil society, will be set up in Beirut. Regular follow-up meetings of senior officials from capitals and headquarters will be organized. A dedicated web-site will be designed to ensure transparency on project financing and implementation.

13- Partner countries and institutions look forward to working with the new Government of Lebanon, after the next parliamentary elections, on the implementation of the CIP and of the reform agenda, including developing a concrete time-table for reforms. They will meet at the level of senior officials from capitals and headquarters soon after a new government is formed."
