No to the Islamic Republic in Parliament Elections day.

Since 1979 till today.

Hamburg , 01.03.2024, 02:16 Time

USPA NEWS - Friday , 1 March 2024 Islamic Republic of Iran , Heard the BIGGEST NO FROM IRANIAN PEOPLE TROUGH OF ELECTION NO ONE WAS THERE....

Iranians will not participate in the parliamentary elections in Iran under any circumstances.

Khamenei, from 40 days before the parliamentary and Guardian Council elections, has appealed to Iranians. All domestic networks affiliated with the Khamenei dictatorship regime have initiated extensive propaganda, making requests or perhaps calling it an appeal, urging Iranians to participate in the sham and fraudulent elections of the Islamic Republic. But do the people of Iran really participate?

If in a country, crimes and thefts by the Islamic government persistently and relentlessly increase every day, if each day the country becomes more insecure and poorer than the day before, and if the dictatorial government is only striving to initiate chaos, conflict, and enmity with the entire world, with Khamenei's dictatorship turning a deaf ear to the voices of people who do not want him, do the people of Iran really still go to the ballot boxes?

People in Iran do not participate in elections for numerous reasons. However, on March 1, 2024, media affiliated with the Islamic Republic dictatorship and leadership, notorious for psychological warfare and atrocities under Khamenei's name, will undoubtedly release photos and videos to the world, claiming that a glorious election is taking place in Iran! (But see the truth in end of this Article) How is it that, if the people of Iran do not participate, the Islamic Republic attempts to deceive the world with lies?"

The clear reason goes back to the earliest governance of the Islamic Republic by the dictatorship, the most psychologically troubled figure in history, who is now in hell under the name of Ruhollah Khomeini. March 30 and 31, 1979, mark the roots of all hatred, animosity, prolonged wars, and atrocities. It all began with the strange referendum that plunged the Iranian people into a historical darkness and a terrifying world, unsettling the entire Middle East.

Since then, the region has never had peace, and all countries irrationally engage in wars, baseless enmity, and senseless killings.

The origin of these dualities and the rise of terrorism trace back to Ruhollah Khomeini and later the mentally unstable fanatic named Seyyed Ali Khamenei. They disrupted the order in the entire region due to Iran's immense wealth, reinforcing a dangerous ideology day by day. They are great thieves who put the lives of young people worldwide at risk. The most significant damage came after that ominous day of a so-called referendum, a mere written document ('Yes' or 'No') without any explanation from the constitutional law of the Islamic dictatorship regime by Khomeini. The people, who were strangely illiterate at that time and believed Khomeini came from the moon, failed to understand the strange calamity they unleashed on themselves, the future generations of Iran, and all countries in the Middle East due to their ignorance and lack of research. They let the Khomeini regime rule Iran, initiating a catastrophe.

After that day, Iran became poorer, stranger, and ultimately a very large prison.

Following the bitter experience of the war with Iraq, the dictatorship of Saddam, and the mad leadership named Khomeini during the imposed war, where around 1 million young Iranians were killed in an unequal war against Saddam's brutal invasion. Enjoying the prolonged war, Khomeini Used Religion, and said die for Islam and War is Salvation for Iran... !!!!!

However, as the Iran-Iraq war lasted for 8 years and Khomeini's Islamic dictatorship benefited from it by building its power base and destroying Iran's infrastructure, the Islamic Republic of Iran used these 8 years to strengthen itself. On the day Iran was freed from the war, approximately 25% of Iranians understood their mistake, but the majority of the population, due to the role-playing and dominance of Khomeini in the theatrical representation where he portrayed himself as the representative of God, continued to be deceived.

Despite being aware of the mistake, most people in Iran did not comprehend that the Islamic Republic in Iran would turn into the darkest possible state. Today, the majority of Iranians struggle to afford basic food items due to extremely low incomes, soaring expenses, and escalating economic inflation

The people of Iran are trapped in a historical abyss, and any small protest results in killings and severe suppression, plunging them into the worst form of oppression.

The first and most serious protest after the establishment of the Islamic Republic, before the war with Iraq, occurred in 1980 when Iranian women protested against the mandatory hijab and discriminatory laws imposed by Khomeini's dictatorship. Due to the lack of sufficient knowledge among men and the failure to read the constitution, these relatively informed women, who anticipated the dark future of Iran, were harshly suppressed, especially by their own families. Unfortunately, at that time, nobody understood why these brave women took to the streets and shouted that Khomeini is misogynistic and destroying Iran.

Despite the suppression of these courageous women in 1980, Khomeini quickly shifted his focus, created distractions, and showcased a clear path to the murderous dictator Saddam Hussein. Khomeini well understood that his dictatorial regime could only gain power through a prolonged war. Consequently, when the war broke out, despite Saddam's willingness for retreat and peace after one year of conflict, Khomeini extended the war to 8 years. Each time conditions for peace arose during these 8 years, Khomeini, the dictator and great criminal, refused peace, continuing the war through any means. Khomeini was so more than dictator, and can you imagine that he loved that war be longer and keep defending of war not peace ? Even while Murder and dictator Saddam accept to finish the war but Khomeini have refused many time with unknown reason! And that he openly declared in his speeches that the war with Islamic republic is a blessing.

However, the women who were suppressed in 1980 refrained from the struggle, as they understood how intensely Khomeini was an enemy to Iran, Iranians, ethical principles, humanity, culture, literature, and progress. These brave women knew that the denial of education for women in society and the compulsory hijab would lead to the destruction of the foundations of families. They recognized that women play the most essential role in society as homemakers, organizers of social order, and educators of children. Despite the existence of sorrowful women in society of any country, over time, the nation gradually moves toward despair. With the oppression and discriminatory laws by Khomeini, what happened today is that no man or woman in Iran is doing well. They suffer from severe depression, and the average life expectancy in Iran has strangely dropped below 65 years, with a significant increase in suicide rates.

With the conclusion of the war in Iran on February 15, 1990, the largest massacre of protesters by the psychologically disturbed dictator Khamenei took place. There was no longer another foolish figure like Khomeini in Iran, and Khamenei had been in power for two years.

By then, people were heavily exhausted from the Islamic Republic's integrity. After 10 years of the rule of Ayatollahs in Iran, around 45% of the population had come to realize that Iran had become like a hospital during the initial decade of Islamic governance – without light, without health, without a doctor to cure, and without a room for recovery.

People understood the decay, recognizing that the Islamic Republic was a deep historical wound. With the persistence of this government and the dictatorship of Khamenei, this wound gradually transformed into a horrifying infection. The people comprehended that keeping this government and the dictator Khamenei in power would turn this wound into a terrifying and incurable infection.

However, this protest movement came to an end in a very sorrowful manner, with the most horrifying suppression in Iran. Students were forcefully and abundantly thrown down from buildings overnight. There were numerous mass executions of opposing youth, and the current Iranian president, always seen by Iranians as a murderer, issued most of the death sentences in the 1990s. A person named Ebrahim Raisi, a dirty individual, was a partner in all these unjust death sentences alongside Ayatollah Khamenei. After this suppression, people became hopeless. In 1990, following the executions and mass graves, Iranians realized the chaos, fear, and dark times awaiting them in the future. They had lost one million brave Iranian youth in the war with Iraq. Iranians, in a strange turn of events, became the saddest people globally. They no longer had the most powerful passport, the best currency, or international credibility.

All the courageous Iranian youth were killed by Saddam's regime, and the few remaining protesters were executed by Ayatollah Raisi and Khamenei. The people of Iran had nothing left—no sufficient income, no comfortable life, and every day their country moved towards a sadder and more bizarre tragedy.

Serious protests by Iranian students began on July 9, 1999, at a time when the Iranian people had lost hope in their country's future. The opposition to the Islamic government had exceeded 60%. However, the dictatorship of Khamenei had strengthened in terms of suppressing its own people. Khamenei, a highly fearful and cunning leader, has been a professional thief since his entrance into power. He sought to empower extremist terrorists, with the IRGC being the most important among them. He knew well that, in revolutionary conditions, Iranians would find it difficult to suppress their fellow citizens. Thus, Khamenei had no choice but to support extremist terrorists financially, militarily, and ideologically.

Today, the Middle East is far from peaceful due to these circumstances.

The number of terrorist groups supported by Khamenei is so vast that it is incalculable. The most important of them include terrorists from Hamas, the Houthis, Hezbollah, and Ansar Allah. It's essential to understand their roots and the reasons for their existence. Iranians become very distressed when these groups are mistakenly associated with Iran's support. Iranians worldwide request and implore that the Islamic Republic be recognized as an occupier, an intruder, and an enemy to Iranians. Therefore, all these groups have no connection to the beloved country of Iran; they are supported by a filthy and murderous lunatic named Ali Khamenei and his insane regime. They are occupiers who have taken all Iranians hostage in the name of the Islamic Republic, the supporter of all this terrorism. Iranians strongly detest this type of regime and government and never consider Khamenei as their ruler; they refer to him as a terrifying lunatic. Remember that today, the Iranian people have reached an extraordinary understanding; they thirst for freedom.

What Iranians citizens wants in fact

All their discussions revolve around peace, progress, good relations with all countries, tranquility, equality, and freedom, unrelated to the occupying Islamic Republic system.

I kindly ask you not to judge Iranians and the people of Iran based on their government. The people of Iran are courageous, brave, and kind. They truly embody the spirit of compassion, but unfortunately, they are marginalized on the international stage.

I present a few scenarios here, perhaps in a humorous tone, but they are a part of the realities in Iran.

1. Imagine walking on the street with your spouse, daughter, son, or partner, and a stranger, usually an extremist Muslim, in a very harsh and immoral tone asks about the familial relationship. If you cannot provide a clear answer or prove that you have a lawful Islamic relationship with that person, you might end up in jail. Your activities in government offices will be halted after this.

2. Imagine not wanting to be in paradise in the afterlife during religious months like Ramadan, smoking a cigarette on the street, drinking water due to intense thirst, or even having jam, and getting publicly lashed because you are forced to go to paradise in the afterlife.

3. Imagine being severely ill, and due to government Islamic ceremonies, all local streets are closed. You cannot reach the hospital, and sadly, you lose your loved ones just because ambulances or any medical help are not allowed to come to you.

4. Imagine working in an office, and someone from government authorities comes and ruthlessly demands a favor. Your job is only suspended because you are not affiliated with the mosque, or you don't have a religious appearance. Even if you complain to the police, it is explicitly stated that the terrorist organizations IRGC and Basij are more powerful than law enforcement, and complaining is equivalent to your death.

NIAC and many others individually people

If you had these conditions, could you bear to be associated with this type of government? Could your ideals and ethics be exemplified by this insane and dictatorial regime? Think about it a bit, and I ask you to remember that Iran has not allowed any international reporters for about 45 years. Keep in mind that corrupt and inhumane organizations, which care nothing about values and human rights, only aim to portray Iran differently for money. This propaganda is so powerful that most social media accounts of users opposing the policies of the Islamic Republic have been shut down. This is just one example: money. These organizations have taken money to show you a different image of Iran. Remember, there is a very large prison in this world called Iran, where innocent and highly ethical people are being killed, and you don't know about it! The world is not as beautiful as it seems; they change the truth with money.

And the subsequent protests in Iran, including in the years 2009, 2019, 2021, and the latest uprising in 2022, have proven that Iranians are no longer afraid. They have boldly cried out for freedom, but no one listens. Today, it can be boldly stated that 96% of the Iranian people demand a change in the regime. However, they are silenced by strange news blackout and censorship. They are in prison in their own land, Islamic republic and Khamenei are having no different from major terrorists, rather, ISLAMIC REPUBLIC WITH LEADING BY KHAMENEI

Are even more terrorist than ISIS. Ali Khamenei is not just an example of illnesses like schizophrenia or severe mental disorders; he is beyond even the sickest. I write to you today because the policies of the Islamic Republic's terrorists are blatantly repetitive. Tomorrow is the election in Iran, and undoubtedly, the participation of the people is below 10%. But due to the abundant money that Ali Khamenei gives to his terrorists, he creates queues to showcase the elections, trying to prove to the world that his government still has popular legitimacy.

However, in these queues, boldly, out of every 1000 people, perhaps 5 are Iranians who remain unaware and still think that voting is a good idea. The rest are not individuals who willingly go to vote. Most of them belong to terrorist groups like Hezbollah, Popular Mobilization Forces, and Fatemiyoun. They are only there to stage a scene that portrays the Khamenei dictatorship as still real and glorious, but the truth is different."

Believe that these queues and individuals are all just for money. Some of them, due to their jobs like teaching or even the smallest tasks requiring approval and payment from the corrupt Khamenei government, are threatened with losing their jobs and are present for voting only due to compulsion and fear.

Therefore, from now on, know that all the images you see in the coming days from Iran are either from archives or not Iranian. In the next day after the voting, in this article's conclusion, I will show you with archival government images to prove that the Islamic Republic government is just a big lie. I can't believe they are powerful because they can't even properly manufacture a car, and certainly, their missiles are made of plastic, created only to instill fear. I wish the authorities of safe countries open their eyes and understand the incompetence, lies, and shame of Ali Khamenei and the Islamic Republic. They should realize that Ali Khamenei is a very fearful being, and most of their weapons are not real. The Islamic Republic is much, much weaker than even I imagine. All these terrorist groups are themselves a testament to the fact that Ali Khamenei has tried to establish power for himself through ideology and beliefs. But he has forgotten that today, the people of Iran consider the Islamic Republic their biggest enemy.

They know that an Iranian without the Islamic Republic means a much more beautiful global existence. Through this article, I request you to empathize with Iranians a bit and believe that this empathy will help create a much better world without the easy killing of humans by dictators.

Let's unite to build a secure world together. The most sacred act is to hear the voice of the Iranian people because the infection and virus named Seyyed Ali Khamenei are very dangerous. To confront him, there is a need for medicine, vaccines, and excellent hospitals based on compassion, storytelling, unity, and communicating with the people of that country. Khamenei will fall, believe that Iranians are not forgetful; they are embarrassed for not having a good government to serve you. Many of them are under compulsory conscription and have become a nuisance to you and your dear country. I urge you to give them their rights and understand that they consider themselves greatly indebted to you. They know that your country and you have saved them and their families from death, one of the greatest blessings in human history for Iranians. They will forever be grateful to you.

Let's be more loving; together, let's strive to build a safe and good world. Unfortunately, the propaganda of the Islamic regime is so powerful that it has severely tarnished the thoughts of people worldwide regarding Iranians. But believe that Iranians are not like that; they are going through very difficult days. Thieves easily govern their country, and professionals must stay at home without a decent income. Because the Islamic government only employs individuals who, like 1400 years ago, have the ugliest and most disrespectful beards and are mostly addicted to drugs, occupying Iran. Iranians have no interest in the appearances of Ayatollahs. So, let's come together to liberate Iran from these demons. The only thing we need to do is to listen to the voice and requests of Iranians and write in our media about the freedom seekers in Iran, shedding light on their torture and killings in the path to freedom, informing everyone that a free Iranian means security for countries like the sacred land of Israel, peace for the people of Russia, the end of the war in Ukraine, and the salvation of many lives. Iranians need your help.

Woman , Life , Freedom

Thank you for the time you spent reading this article. I believe the day will come when humans will live in complete peace, and no child will sleep hungry. Remember that the government of Ayatollahs is very dangerous. The safety of all humanity is at great risk with them staying in power.

Women, Life, freedom,...

NO TO KHAMENEI NO TO ISLAMIC REPUBLIC

"Today, on March 1, 2024, a Election took place in Iran. The people of Iran, with a resounding 'no,' stood against the government.

This unprecedented unity and solidarity among the people are remarkable.

Despite government threats, even through letters and text messages, they couldn't lead the Iranian people to the election centers. Boldly, they faced one of the bitterest days for Khamenei, and even with repetitive images and archival photos, they can't withstand the truth anymore.

The Iranian people have united strongly, capturing photos and videos from most election centers, like a perfect journalists, to announce to the world that the Islamic Republic is only spreading lies and Islamic republic is not their choice anymore they need regime change thats all.

I will share some of these images with you. See the reality."
