THOMAS DIETRICH RESIGNED FROM GENERAL SECRETARIAT NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF HEALTH

MICHELE RIVASI MEP OUTRAGEOUS

Paris, Washington DC, 24.02.2016, 01:32 Time

USPA NEWS - Thomas Dietrich resigned noisily from the General Secretariat of the National Health Conference in his open letter denouncing the fact that "democracy in the field of health is a broad farce mounted by politicians." Michele Rivasi, French MEP is outraged about this situation.

Thomas Dietrich resigned noisily from the General Secretariat of the National Health Conference in his open letter denouncing the fact that "democracy in the field of health is a broad farce mounted by politicians." This terrible situation from a senior official whistleblower in the field of public health joined the battles that we carry for public control of health products policies as part of the clean hands operation launched it a year ago. "In his resignation letter, Mr. Dietrich reported sustained pressure from the office of the Minister of Health, budgetary allocations cuts to his body as too independent ...

Dietrich also denounced the deception of the public debate on vaccination announced by the Minister in early January following the submission of the report of Sandrine Hurel.-----

Our health should take precedence over the interests of the pharmaceutical industry reluctant to seamlessly across all health agencies. We reaffirm our wish to see a real citizen be organized conference on drug policy and vaccines to break with its "Dangerous Liaisons." The public interest must regain its rights. Our health is not a commodity! Michele Rivasi, MEP says.
